Learning online is an example of the way education is changing to help students of all kinds achieve their goals. University of Minnesota Crookston prides itself on high-quality educational services for non-traditional or continuing students, community organizations and the workforce.

What does ONLINE learning really mean?
You access course content, assignments and class discussions on your computer via the internet. You plan your learning around work, home and family schedules. Your transcripts and diploma will reflect your U of M degree and will not indicate that the degree was obtained online.

How long will it take me to finish the degree?
Each student’s educational plan varies. It depends on your schedule, commitments and how many previous college credits you have completed for transfer. Most students enroll in 2-3 classes per term while completing their degrees in 1-2 years.

Will I get to know my professors?
Our dedicated faculty and staff serve as true mentors, offering prompt personalized attention catered to an online learner. You will have the opportunity to communicate with advisers and other students by participating in discussions, and other interactive tools to give you an exceptional educational experience.
