Online University of Minnesota Crookston prides itself on high-quality educational services for nontraditional or continuing students, community organizations and the workforce.

“The University of Minnesota Crookston online degree was the perfect match for me! The staff were very helpful and patient. They were able to answer all my questions about the Bachelor of Applied Health program! They even made a trip to Rochester, MN to introduce the program to me and a group of my co-workers in person! I work full time and have 6 year old twins. This program offers me the flexibility I need to maintain my home and work life balance. By being able to ‘attend class’ online after the kids are settled for the night, I do not feel that I am missing out on these important years of my children’s lives. Thanks for offering a great program!”

“Seeking your degree online is a challenge; it takes dedication and discipline, but it also allows for flexibility… something I needed,” said Tony Decembrini, Bachelor of Manufacturing Management alumni.

The University’s mission, carried out on multiple campuses and throughout the state, is threefold: research and discovery, teaching and learning and outreach and public service.

The University of Minnesota is an equal opportunity educator and employer.

How it Works

Online Learning

What does ONLINE learning really mean?
You will use a computer and the Internet to access course content, assignments and class discussions. This means you can plan your learning around work, home and family schedules.

How long will it take me to finish the degree?
The time it takes to complete a baccalaureate degree depends on your schedule, commitments and how many previous college credits you have completed for transfer. Most students enroll in 2-3 classes per term while completing their degrees in 1-2 years, each student’s educational plan varies.

Will I get to know my professors?
E-mail and use of online techniques and course management systems provide fast, easy and personal ways to communicate with faculty and other students.

UMC’s Center for Adult Learning along with Academic Departments deliver 14 degrees entirely online. Online courses and degrees provide students opportunities to complete courses without attending classes on campus:
